BID PACKAGE SPECIFICATIONS

Request for Proposals (RFP): Community Non-Violence Programming

Introduction

The City of Providence is dedicated to fostering a safe and resilient community. While the City of Providence has committed significant resources to proactively address residents' behavioral health needs, there is recognition that additional investments in nonviolence and conflict resolution programming to empower residents to de-escalate and resolve conflict without additional interventions is needed. Additionally, when a conflict escalates, the City seeks to also provide appropriate intervention services. Through this Request for Proposals, the City seeks to offer a funding opportunity for initiatives focused on non-violence programming and interventions within schools and broader community settings. Proposals are sought from qualified non-profit organizations to invest a total of $237,500 in both upstream, in-school non-violence strategies and additional services targeting individuals engaged in or at risk of becoming involved in conflict.

Purpose

This RFP aims to support and implement innovative and effective non-violence programming that addresses violence and conflict both proactively and reactively within schools and the broader community. Evidence-based modalities for educational programs, conflict mediation and de-escalation training, mental health support, and/or spiritual support with the goal of creating a safer environment for all Providence residents are encouraged.

Investment Priority Areas

Responsive proposals must address at least one of the following focus areas. The priority focus areas for this funding opportunity are:

1. Upstream Non-Violence Programming: Initiatives designed to address and prevent violence before it occurs. These programs should be proactive and aimed at creating systemic changes within schools and communities.
2. In-School Interventions: Programs and strategies implemented directly within schools to foster a culture of non-violence. This includes curriculum enhancements, peer mediation programs, conflict resolution training, and other related interventions.
3. Direct Services for Individuals Engaged in Violence:
 - Evidence-Based Models: Programs that offer educational, mental health, and/or spiritual support. The services should: a. Enhance participants' ability to analyze and identify different forms of conflict. b. Empower participants to develop cooperative problem-solving strategies to improve community environments by decreasing tension and hostility. c. Increase participants' awareness of and fluency in basic, intermediate, and advanced conflict reconciliation and mediation techniques.
 - Recruitment: Proactively identify and refer high-risk youth to participate in programming.

BOARD OF CONTRACT AND SUPPLY
CITY OF PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND

- Conflict Intervention: Proactively identify interpersonal conflicts at risk of escalating to violence, and provide trauma-informed, anti-racist, anti-stigma, strength-based interventions for mediation and reconciliation. Refer at-risk residents to basic needs and/or social services as needed.

Participant Stipends: Reasonable and necessary stipends may be paid to participants to reduce barriers to participation in the above programming types. Such stipends may include transportation costs, replacement of wages for attendance hours, and/or childcare costs as appropriate.

Eligibility

To be eligible for this funding, organizations must:

- Be a registered non-profit organization, community-based organization, or educational institution in good standing with the Secretary of State.
- Demonstrate experience and expertise in non-violence programming, conflict resolution, and support for individuals engaged in violence.
