The purpose of this addendum is:
to answer questions from prospective bidders.

1. Is the City open to negotiating specific language in the Terms and Conditions—particularly regarding limitation of liability, indemnification, or data breach response timelines?
 - No. These are the standard basic T&Cs.
2. Does the City currently have sensors or other data sources that we will be pulling data from, or are we expected to deploy our own sensors to collect data?
 - The City of Providence Department of Economic Development does not have access to any sensors or other data sources. We expect the bidder to provide data.
3. Is there any further guidance for what will need to be included (format, charts, data points interested in) in the 15 event-specific impact reports focused on areas of interest for a designated time.
 - We would like the bidder to offer suggestions based on previous reports they have generated. This should be a chance for the bidder to showcase the types of data analytics they are able to offer the City.
4. Are you specifically seeking location data derived from mobile applications or wireless signals?
 - We are looking for location data that exemplifies the movement of people through the City of Providence. The data should be able to accurately depict visitor numbers, dwell time and origin location as well as comprehensive visualization tools.
5. Do you have rough estimates for average daily or event-specific traffic volumes relevant to the scale expected in the impact reports?
 - No, each case will differ.
